THE TIMES: OVER 3,500 COLUMNS FOR 50 CENTS A MONTH

MORNING, EVENING, AND SUNDAY, OWNED AND ISSUED BY

The Washington Times Company, TIMES BUILDING.

SOUTHWEST CORNER PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE AND TENTH STREET

Telephone—Editorial Rooms, 137 Business Office, 337
Price-Morning or Evening Edition S anday Edition
Konthly by Carrier-
Morning and Sunday Thirty-fi	vo Centa
EveningThir	ty Cents
Evening and Fig.	Y CENTS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., SEPTEMBER 9, 1895.

The Times is not responsible for the preservation of manuscripts sent to or left at this office. When accompanied by stamps such manuscripts will be returned, although any obligation to do so is especially Subscribers to "The Times" will confer a favor by promptly reporting any discourtesy of collectors, or neglect of duty on the part of carriers. Complaints either by mail or in person will receive prompt attention The Morning Edition should be delivered to all parts of the city by 6:30 o'clock a. m., including Sanday. The Evening Edition should be in the hands of subscribers not later than 6:30 p. m.

BEATS THEM ALL.

THE STAR ADMITS IT AT LAST.

The Times Has the Largest Daily Circulation.

It is gratifying to announce that for the first time in twenty years the "Star" has been compelled to withdraw its claim of having a larger circulation than all the other Washington dailies combined. This It did last Saturday. The "Star" does not acknowledge, however, that its circulation is less than The Times, although a strict adherence to the truth would necessitate that admission. The aggregate circulation of the "Star" last week was only 173,136, while The Times had a bona fide circulation of 212,385, or 39,249 more copies than the "Star," as will be seen by the following sworn statement. The net gain of The Times' circulation last week

Don't bring your "ad." to The Times if you want to bury it. Nothing is published except live, profitable advertising.

District of Columbia, ss:

On the ninth day of September, in the year of our Loci one thousand eighthundred and ninety five, before me, Ernest G. Thompson, a notary public in and for said district, personally appeared C. T. Richardson and made oath in due form of law to follow: CIRCULATION OF THE WASHINGTON

MONDAY, Sept 2	30,030
TUESDAY, Sept. 3	31,272
WEDNESDAY, Sept. 4	31,106
THURSDAY, Sept 5	30,914
FRIDAY, Sept. 6	30,896
BATURDAY, Sept. 7	34,690
BUNDAY, Sept. 8
	212,385

I solemnly swear that the above is a correct statement of the daily circulation of The Washington Times for the week ending September 8, 1895, and that all Copies were actually fold or mailed a valuable consideration and delivered bona fide purchasers; also that none them were returned or remain in the ce undelivered office undelivered.

C. T. RICHARDSON,
Manager of Circulation.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, on the day and year first herein above written.

ERNEST G. THOMPSON,
Notary Public.

REMEMBERS HIS FEE.

Ex-Secretary Fester delivered an address on the Chinese riots in the First Pres byterian Church at Watertown, N. Y. last evening which clearly manifests that he is still under the influence of that hundred-thousand-dollar fee from the Chinese government. His statement that the common people of China are not hostile to the missionaries and their Work will not be accepted as sincere by those familiar with the experience of mis sionaries. For in every instance where murder and rioting have interfered with the work of Christianizing the Chinese the perpetrators-have been the common pe ple, who were incited to deeds of violence

There is also a difference between the im migration of Chinese and their right to protection in the United States and the so journ and religious work of Christian missionaries in China. Instead of benefiting this country either as laborers or citizens the Chinese are a positive injury. Their vicious habits and methods of living are a disgrace to any community, and their cheapening of wages and persistence in displacing Amerlean labor has brought distress to many

On the contrary, the introduction of missionaries in China has been beneficial. They have not only given that country spiritual light, but have shown its people how to become modernized and to enjoy the blessings of an enlightened civilization. Instead of changing China from an industrial paradise to a condition of labor starving as Chinese immigration would do to this country, the missionaries are attempting to show China the way to religious and National prosperity.

But those who understand the relations will not blame Mr. Foster for upholding the Chinese. He has greatly profited by their liberality.

AGAIN THE TROLLEY TRUST. The Times' suit against the trolley tous for obstructing New York avenue with its poles contrary to law was continued by request of the defense until Wednesday. This was evidently done to give opportunity to meet the emergency and, if possible, to prevent further prosecution of the trust. That question, however, is one of public importance and must not be abandor cept when the last resource to compel an

It is hinted that the Trolley Trust indeavoring to treat with the Commissi by promising to change its motive power a

The Washington Times evasions, and in the eyes of the law and of the people of Washington the Trolley Trust is a law-breaking corporation. There fore it is the duty of the Commissioners to see that it is vigorously prosecuted.

Unless this is done and the trolley poles are removed from New York avenue before the trolley trust begins to run its trains into the city from Baltimore, the fate of that beautiful thoroughfare will be definitely decided. The charter of the Baltimore trolley does not specify what kind of motive power shall be used, not is its business limited to passenger traffic, and when once it commences to use New York avenue for its western termi nus the Washington public may expect to see that street an overhead trolley switchpoard for both freight and passenger trains The trolley trust should be compelled to change its motive power on New York avenue in obedience to a law enacted for that purpose.

AMERICAN DELEGATES IGNORED. Mr. Bernard Shaw, clever novelist and levoted Socialist, declares in a London newspaper for which he writes that the American delegates to the late trades union congress, which met at Cardiff, were treated with scant courtesy, and really ig nored by the British leaders. Mr. Shaw contrasts this conduct with that which showered attention and cordini treatment ipon Holmes and Burns when these Social ists visited America, and declares that we do not do these things well in England."

ment is grateful, but it is not very surpris ing. It is well known that the British idea. of hospitality is very different from that of Americans. No other people on the face of the earth open bearts and homes with the warmth and beartiness exhibited by Americaans to welcome visitors of either private or public character, and most especially visitors from foreign countries Certainly such delegates could not have been unwelcome on account of their radicalism. They showed themselves to be more conservative than a great majority of their British cousins. They surely fol low far to the rear of the advanced position of Mr. Shaw. The alleged difference of treatment, therefore, must have been largely due to mere differences of national temperament.

DANGER IN THE TROLLEY. That many were not killed or maimed vesterday as a result of a trolley car running wild on the Eckington road near the Catholic University was more largely due to good lack than good management Had the brakes refused to act at a spot more favorable for a runa way nothing could have prevented a horrible disaster.

This incident is a new illustration of the fact that the appliances on trolley cars which course rapidly up and down steep grades are insufficient to afford more than the flimsiest protection to life and limb. This is especially true of cars of earlier construction, and now out of date, which are largely in a majority on the electric roads around Washington. A few years ago the brakes refused to do their work on car of the Tennallytown road near the power house, and at the same time the elec tric current was in some way cut off. The car started down hill towards Georgetown at terrific speed, the impetus carried it up the steep grade and over the summit and a great catastrophe was escaped only by the fact that the car jumped the track and was stopped by coming into contact with an electric pole. There was much talk at the time about compelling the companies to adopt cars with a double array of brakes, but as usual where corporations are concerned nothing could be done but that which the corporation chose to do voluntarily, and they, of course, did not choose to do anything. The incident of thing ought to be done at once to compe companies to adopt the most perfect of brakes, and also, it might be said in passing. to enforce the law with regard to fenders and street obstructions.

DRIVE NEW WELLS.

The obliteration of those old landmarks, he wells of the city, is a movement which is not only unpopular, but which must lead to much discomfort and possibily sickness if the removals be made complete, even in those parts of the city which have the water service. In the last case reported a well was destroyed simply because a few persons living close by it objected to the noise made by the pumping and the chatter of the water carriers.

To a great mass of the population of the city these wells are blessings which cannot be appreciated by those who do not use them Many residents living in the poorer class of houses draw from them all the water they use. Too poor to purchase ice, this well water furnishes their cooling drinks. whose sanitary value in hot weather cannot be estimated. It has not been shown by analysis that the well water, except in a very few instances, is more unwholesome than Potomac water. If, however, it be feared that the water of shallow wells will be contaminated by ewage from city drains, there is no reason why artesian wells of greater or less depth should not be driven, and water of the purest and coolest character be drawn from veins passing through rocks. The expense would not be great, the result would generally conduce to comfort and health of citizens, and complaints would be silenced in regard to useless and arbitrary destruction of the old pumps.

HOW THE BLUNDER CAME. Truth, the whole truth, is gradually leaking out in regard to the astounding and ridiculous blunder of the Associated Press in mistaking the Valkyrie for the Defender in its report of the yacht race of Saturday, and which led the Star into making reports which threw the public into spasms of laughter and the Star herself into spasms of another kind. The staff of the Associated Press which eported the race contained the very cream of the New York organization. The geeral manager himself was aboard to add his sage advice to the wisdom of his fleutenants. They congratulated themselves they were possessed of all the mental and mechanical paraphernalia necessary for perfect work. But, alas! Neptune is no respecter of persons. He was in jolly moud that day. He recognized that the A. P. staff were poor sailors; that, while they were nice enough fellows as land-lubbers, they might sasily be made to show that they were failures as Jack Tars

The day was not blustery. That was un eccessary. At Neptune's command a gen-le swell flisturbed the boat occupied by Associated Press people. It was a foots her?

woolng, treacherous swell, in which there seemed to lurk no evil. It lifted bow and stern of the vessel alternately as gently as a mother would rock a cradle

It was enough to do Neptune's work, however. The pencil-pushers sought the seclusion that the cabins granted. From portholes dim with mist the reporters viewed the race-when they were able to look out of the portholes. It is not sur prising, therefore, that they got everything right wrong, and all the time mistook the Defender for the Valkyrie.

Either some such catastrophe as this must have overtaken the A. P. men or the unprecedented blunder, which will go down in history as the most ridiculous ever made in newspaperdom, must have been due to absolute stopidity. Sufferers from it can choose that horn of the dilemma most comforting to them.

Stephen Brodie, esq., actor, saloon-keeper, and bridge-jumper, allows no professional jealousy to consume him when he thinks of the performance of Mrs. McArthur in jumping from Brooklyn Bridge and living to tell the tale thereof. Mr. Brodie emits the following clarion-toned critique from Milwaukee, and there is no froth on his words notwithstanding the character of the town from which he talks:

rrom which he talks:

"She is a corker," said Brodie, "There don't nob dy but me and her know what it is. Talk about the new woman. Say, when they get to stepping on the oxone from the Brooklyn Bridge and landing in the damp below, they come pretty near being in it. "I tapped the wire to my wife and told her toget a move on and have Mrs. McArthur take charge in my place and play the limit. She won't do no more jumping, you can gamble on that. Why, I would not jump off a trolley car or onto a good thing without a net." Coming from Mr. Shaw this acknowledg-

Well done, Brodie! Now let the shining ights of other great professions reach down from their pedestals and give the new woman the glad band.

Apparently there are yet too few opports nitles for jobbery in the building of naval vessels, and so the officials of the Navy Department are discussing the feasibility of naving builders of vessels, instead of the Government, test armor plate used by hem. Those who remember the scathing report of a Congressional committee which investigated the armor plate frauds of the Carnegie Company will wonder what influence has suggested the new plan to conceat fraud.

If Mr. Coudert, of New York, really has the Supreme Bench bee in his bonnet, he had better consult with Senator Hill, in executive session, before bothering about Cleveland.

Foreign newspapers and many in America give the hottest kind of roasting to the press associations which fooled them on the yacht race, but the Star and Post have not sufficlently recovered from their dazed condition to utter a word.

Let the Eckington trolley people change their line on New York avenue to the city boundary from the overhead to the under ground system, and transfer from one to the other, as the Chevy Chase line does at U street, and trolley literature would be come less popular. But that's just what the trust will not do, because New York avenue is necessary to use as an entering wedge for many lines the trust bave in view.

Ex-Speaker Crisp must have been rather giddy in England, as he asserts that British ospitality is too ponderous. Would be have had it more airy? But perhaps his criticism is intended as a swipe at Bayard.

Mr. Frederic Condert believes the Pres ident will fill the Supreme Beach vacancy from New York, and it is easy to guess who it is that Mr . Coudert has in his mind, though he declares he has not been offered the high position.

Here's a loving cup to the Blue and the Gray who are shaking hands on Southern soil to-day.

the Librarian of Congress to produce an upto-date catalogue of the vast collection in his keeping is that they care little about the books. Most Congressmen use just such books as are necessary to quote from to make up one or two nice-sounding speeches to deliver during a session and distribute imong their constituents.

The body guard most needed by the President is one which will keep agents of principals of the trusts from stretching their legs under Presidential mahogany.

It will be pleasing news to bicycle riders that Dr. Championniere, a distinguished French physician, after four years of careful investigation, has decided that cycle riding is an entirely healthful exercise. This is in flat contradiction to Dr. Forbes Winslow, another eminen physician, who denounces cycling as detrimental to robust growth and health. A vote of the cycling world upon the ques tion of whether Championniere or Winslow is the greater doctor would give a unani mous show of hands for the former.

bulletins will doubtless in future be revised by the American instead of the British ditor when they relate to international

Possibly we can't play great ball, but, oh! how we can shoot! So long as Corbett and Fitzsimmons are merely training the public can rest content with the actual set-to between John

James Ingalls and Mary Ellen Lease. Several Pennsylvanians who are ambi tious to come to the United States Senate are equally ambitious that Senator Cameron shall be made President, and they are just about the sum and substance of

A Chicago paper warns persons who wish to be United States Senators to live outside the large cities, which rarely furnish members of that body of eminent attorthey soon learn the power and value of the big city corporations

By the way, where is Paramount Comm sioner Blount, of Georgia, these days?

President Cleveland should know there is good birdshooting on the flats only a short distance from the White House. This information will doubtless bring him home at once.

The Gas Monopoly has about three mor ore in which to come down voluntarily or have its profit reduced by act of Congress— that is if committees of Congress be not organized in the interest of it and other

The present outlook is that to-morrow will again furnish "Valkyrie weather." But what's the difference if the American out

Although the last Congress enacted a law requiring all trolley poles to be removed from the streets of the city, the Commissioners have permitted an electric car line to maintain their trolleys along New York to maintain their trolleys along New York avenue, from Seventh street to Eckington, the home of Kaie Chase Sprague. Litigation of a dilatory and careless character has been indulged in, but with apparent intent to deceive the public, while permitting the trolley line to violate the law.

The farce is new to be brought to an end. A private citizen has brought suit against the corporation and a warrant has been issued for the arrest of the manager of the issued for the arrest of the manager of the company. The case will be brought into court to-morrow, and it is believed that after all our Commissioners will be compelled to do their duty by removing the poles, since the corporation refuses to do so.

This is not the only case of contempt of Thus is not the only case of contempt of Congress. The Firty-first Congress passed a law requiring the Metropolitan and Wash-ington & Georgetown Street Railway Com-panies to dispense with use of horses on August 2, 1892. In compliance with the aw, on August 6, 1892, the Washington & leorgetown Company started the cable line on Pennsylvania avenue, but until this day the Metropolitan Company uses horses, and the law has been not only nullified, but repealed, so far as the Metropolitan road is

At first the road secured an extension of time, because it pretended to be experi-menting with storage battery cars. Another extension was granted, and then another, and finally the extension was made indefinite. The cars of this corporation un into the Capital Grounds. Congressional enactments command respect everywhere save within sight of the Capitol, where he laws are made. - Smith D. Fry, in Phila-

Minister Lewis Baker, who represents the United States in Nicaragua and other Central American republics, will leave for his post the 20th, when his leave of absence will expire. Since his arrival at Washington Minister Baker has held frequent consultations at the Department of State relative to the course he shall pursue upon his return to Central America. Among the topics under iscussion were the Nicaraguan Canal and the consolidation of the Central American republics, both of these questions being of paramount importance to the United States. Instructions which the American minister will carry back with him are explicit, and every detail has been carefully gone over with a view to facilitating friendly rela tions between this country and its Central American neighbors. -R. W. Patterson in hicago Tribune.

It is understood that Chairman Carter, of the national committee, will, within a few days, issue a call for a meeting of the committee in this city in October. The exact date of the meeting is not yet known, but when it is finally announced delegations from all of the score of the cities which are in the race for the convention will be headed this way. The general impression here seems to be that, although Chicago will not ask for the convention, it is more than likely to be held there —J. S. Van Antwerp in Minneapolis Journal.

English investors are longing in a wholesale way for American gold mines. Their agents and experts are looking into the merits of nearly a hundred properties in the mountain States, their field of inquiry extending over into Mexico. Fabulous fortunes have been made in the South African mines during the last few years and the Enlish mind, excited by the pleasurable experience, is desirous of taking in the good things of the same sort in America.

Negotiations are proceeding slowly, but the drift is certainly this way, and in the course of a few months from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 of British gold is reasonably certain to be transferred to American pockets in exchange for the titles to minng properties.

British curiosity is also being directed to timber and coal properties in the United States, and English capitalists are considering several attractive propositions of that sort, some of them running in the tens of millions. This interest displayed by the is encouraging in the extreme. They have been deaf, dumb, and blind to financial ishments of any sort from this side they did was to put $200,000,000 to $250,-060,000 into American industrials at one whirl, their investments covering everything from flourmills and elevators to packing-houses, iron foundries, and breweries, the latter alone absorbing close to $150,000,000.-W. H. Nicholas, in Chicago Post.

Gossip of the Day.

Yesterday morning while the waiting ooms at the Baltimore and Potomac depot were crowded with ladies of the Woman's Reilef Corps, ready to board their train for the grand encampment at Louisville, a cat with a mouse in its mouth appeared on the scene. One of the ladies who was which was close to her, and leaning toward r husband, said:

"John, does a cut always play with a use before killing it?"

"Generally, my dear," replied John. "John, I am not afraid," she said, "but ron't you drive the cat away?" John drove the cat away, and it passed into the ladies' waiting-room where skirts were hastily gathered up and a murmur After playing a few moments with the mouse the cat devoured it and skirts and feet were again lowered.

night. "With six theatres in full blast, there is no reason why any one should ahead of any previous year. On account of the competition, all predict a good season, as Washington is known to be one of the most successful show towns in the ountry." Attorney Shoemaker, representing the Anti-saloon League, is confident that, what ever may have been intended by the law makers, the amendment adopted by the las Congress to the statute governing retail liquor licenses, is quite broad and plain ugh to defeat the application made for "The section amended," he said, "now reads that ilcenses shall not be granted for any of the purposes named in the act to any person occupying a building located within the was Queen's counsel. He is greatly estable of a public school, private school to come of worship, and that seems to me to admit of no debate.

"There is no section of the liquor law that in anywise conflicts with this, and I am at a loss to know upon what grounds readable article in the Nouvelle Revue on "The Condition of Women in the United States." Mmc. Blane is one of the few foreigners who have written of us who is really well equipped for her task, having lived much among us, in toth city and sountry, and rossessing a familiarity with

Sent from Washington. TITLES GIVEN TO NEGROES

Colored People Who Have Been Honored by Sovereigns.

Story of Aldridge, the Black Roscius Sir Samuel Lewis Is a Great Lawyer and a Negro.

From the Boston Transcript.

There have been many negroes in Europe and the West Indies who have received distinguished considerations in the way f decorations from the crowned heads of the old world. The Black Roscins-Ira Aldridge-who created such a forore in Europe many years ago as a tragedian and who was frequently carried from the theaters in which he performed upon the shoulders of his enthusiastic auditors to his hotel, was loaded down with medals, gifts of kings and queens whom he had barmed and delighted by his magnificent mpersonations of the characters he as-

Aldridge was a Maryland negro, and first went to Europe some time in the forties in the capacity of valet to a distinguished American tragedian, who, discovering his talents and bent of mind, encouraged him to become an actor. He performed in the principal cities of Europe, and it is re-torded of him that when he played lago in the city of Moscow, in Russia, a number of students who had witnessed the per-formance unhitched the horses from the actor's carriage after the play was over and dragged him in triumph to his lodgings. In Sweden and Germany and England his was a household word. He stood in the front rank among the greatest actors of his day, and the nobility of Europe held him in the same regard and treated him with the same consideration that Americans bestow upon Keene or Barrett or Booth or any other great actor who has made himself famous. Ira Aldridge gave no performancesc in Europe members of the royal family of the country he was in. He was very dark in complexion with a full, round face. He was pearly six feet in height. He had large, lustrous eyes, and resonant voice which he kept under perfect control.

As Aaron, in "Titus Andronicus," and as the Moor in "Othello," he established his fame as the most realistic actor who up to that period ever essayed the roles. The ewspapers of that period showered unstinted praise upon this remarkable negro, and he was lionized in fashionable society and feted by the nobility; the King of Sweden knighted him and the Emperor of Russia conferred a decoration upon him. His medals and decorations from other per-sonages were estimated at the time of his death, 1867, to be worth over $250,000 Aldridge owned nine villas situated in various parts of Europe, and each of them bandsomely furnished. His principal residence was in the city of London, England, where he entertained in a royal man ner the legions of friends who sought his company and that of his charming wife, a Swed-ish baroness, by whom he had three children. He died in 1867 as Sir Ira Aldridge K.C. M., and a host of other titles given bim at various times.

Queen Victoria has recently conferred the Victoria Cross upon a coal black negro, a corporal inone of the West India regiments, for having saved the life of his commanding fficer by throwing himself in front of the atter and receiving in his own body the bullets that would have otherwise found lodgment in that of his captain. Peter Salem did something like this during our Revolutionary War. In 1878 or 1879 the President of the republic of Liberia conferred upon the American minister, the Hon. John H. Smyth, in consideration of friendly services to the republic, the title of "Knight of the Order of African Redemption." In a letter dated at the palace of Madrid, writes to the President of Liberia as fol-

"Great and Good Friend: Desiring to give you a public testimony of my royal appreciation and my particular esteem, I have had special pleasure in nominating you knight of the Grand Cross of the Royal Order of Isabel the Catholic. I am pleased by this action also to furnish new proof of the desire which animates me to strengthen more and more the friendly re lations which happily exist between Spain and the republic of Liberia. And, with this motive, I repeat to you the assurance of the affection which I entertain toward you, and with which I am, great and good friend, your great and good friend, "ALFONSO.

"Palace of Madrid, February 11, 1882."

There are few better lawyers anywhere than age to be found among the educated blacks of the British West Indies. The ittorney general of the Island of Jamaica ome years ago was a negro, by name Burke, who was said to be as eloquent of speech and as formidable in argument as his great Irish namesake, Edmund Burke who, it will be remembered, said on one occasion, "Great men are the guideposts of a nation." The black Burke was famed not alone for his oratory, but for the soundness of his legal judgment and the fairness of his decisions, while acting as ittorney general. He was knighted some years ago by Queen Victoria.

In Freetown, Sierra Leone, there lives very ordinary looking little black man, "Washington is going to have lots of who has the regular negro features and hair. good things in the amusement line this win- In stature he is less than five feet in height, ter," said a well-known theatrical man last. Like the immortal Richard III, he shrugs who has the regular negro features and hair his shoulders when he walks, but unlike him he does not sing out, "Shine on, bright sun," etc. He is Sir Samuel Lewis, and managers and they all have filled time, and I say that this season's bookings go far thead of any previous year. On account England. Sir Samuel was recently offered by a firm in London £9,000 per annum to locate in that city and attend to its legal usiness, but he declined the offer, preferring to remain among his people in Sierra Leone, with whom he is a greatfavorite.

> The Lord Chief Justice of Trinidad, W. I. Sir Conrad Reeves, is a negro scholar and a cultured and refined gentleman, upon whom Queen Victoria some years ago conferred the order of knighthood. He is a K. G. As Lord Chief Justice of Trinidad. he wears the wig and flowing robes, with lowly grace and dignity. For many years he was Queen's counsel. He is greatly esthe most polished and finished gentlemen at the English bar. His name is the synonym for probity and integrity. He is a

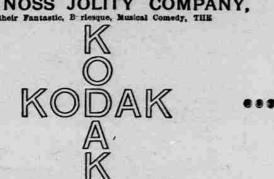

Missouri is a great fruit State, and the each crop this year is beyond computation. company is reported at 7 cents a bushel. A letter says: The apple crop is also immense, and they are selling to evaporators at from 7 to 10 cents a bushel. One farmer sold his entire crop undelivered at 5 cents a bushel, and is said to have made money at that

BIJOU THEATER---Grand Opening Night ...

GRAND OPENING NIGHT.

MATINEES TUESDAY and SATURDAY. Under New Management-Entirely Refitted-Everything new-ELITE ENGAGEMENT, The Whirlwind of Farce Comedy,

THE NOSS JOLITY COMPANY.

LITTLE ELSIE LOWER THE DANCING SUNBEAM.

MR. CHARLES T. ALDRICH. The Original Tramp, Hungry Hawkins.

THE 4 LASSARDS.

European Novelties, direct from London and Paris, in their "Country School" act.

ADMISSION FIRST FLOOR.

Points About Pilgrims.

Mr. Arthur Goss, the State chemist of New Mexico; Prof. R. A. Doxey, a promi-nent physician and scholar of England, and Judge G. Y. Overall, of Mobile, Ala., are at the Ebbitt House.

Mr. D. S. Williams, a St. Paul, Minn., lawyer, and Mr. Alexander W. Doty, of Brooklyn, are stopping at the Ebbitt House.

Messrs. P.S. Young, of Boston, and William Curtis, of New Orleans, are among Page's latest arrivals.

The Shoreham registers contains the following names among others: Mr. Grant Wood, Atlanta; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ladd, Portland, Ore.; Mr. Arthur B. Cook, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mr. Raynor J. Hayes, Boston; Mr. D. S. Williams, St. Paul; Minn., and Mr. L. F. Loree, Cleveland

Mr. T. A. Sumper, of Asheville, N. C. and Mr. J. P. Harrison and wife, of Min neapolis, Minn., are registered at the Metropolitan.

The National's register contains amo others the following names: Mr. A. McMil-len, of Council Bluffs, Iowa; Mr. R. H. Dicks, of Dayton, Ohio; Mr. Daniel Sapp and wife, of Pekin, Ill.; Mr. Edward Lobstook, of Cincinnati, and Mr. A. D. Bassell, of Clarksburg, W. Va.

Mr. William J. Little, superintendent of the Hot Springs, Ark., reservation, is stopping at the National Hotel. "I came to Washington," said Mr. Little, "to consult with Secretary Smith upon mat ters relative to the reservation. The past has been hardly as flourishing a sec as many of its predecessors at the resort. for the reason that there was a slight outbreak of smallpox there early last spring, and that had a tendency to keep people away. But that has long since been erad icated, and the prospect for the coming eason is the brightest in the history o he watering resort. Hot Springs is nov practically an all-year-round resort, but the busiest season is from January to June. The first three months of the year are the most popular with Northern and Eastern people. During the last fiscal year there were 155,000 free baths given at the government free bathing house About twice as many more were given by the twenty-one bathing houses run by

Among the guests of the Raleigh are Mr. E. S. Crooker, of Des Moines, Iowa; Mr corge W. Walker, an insurance mun, of Providence, R. J.; Mr. H. G. Swanson, wife

ander H. Duty, of Brooklyn. A party of Louisiana ladies who are mak-ing a tour of the Eastern States are registered at Willard's. The party includes the following: Mrs. O. Atkins, Mrs. H. Youree, Miss H. Howell, Miss B. Ogiville, Austin, all of Shreveport.

Hop. William Elliott is one of the Intest rrivals at the Metropolitan. Mr. Elliott halls from Beaufort, of the Seventh South Carolina district, and has been re-elected to the Fifty-fourth Congress. Mr. Elliot's district is one of the closest south of the Mason and Dixon line, but he has already been here twice, in the Fifty-first and Fifty-second Congresses.

"I have lately returned from beyond the Mississippi," said Mr. Stanley Cook, of Indianapolis, at the Raleigh, "Everything is indeed in a flourishing condition in the West. The people have busied then selves so with their crops during the pas summer and this fall that they have appa ently forgotten to follow up the free silve discussion. You would be surprised at the rapid manner in which Idaho and north western Wyoming are developing into fruit countries. No better apples, pears and plums are grown anywhere than in Idaho, and the shipments to the East are each year growing rapidly."

The Proof of the Pudding.
Editor Times: "The proof of the pudding is in the eating." you know. No doubt about that. The Valkyrie pudding served by your venerable contemporary on Saturday Inst proved to be indigestible to its renders, whose disturbance was not relieved until they availed themselves of the prescription furnished by The Times yesterday morning.

National Line Closed Out. Liverpool, Sept. 9.—The meeting of shareholders in the National Line Steam-ship Company which was held here Sater-day finally approved the proposals of the directors to wind up the affairs of the ompany and carry out the agreement with the Leyland, Wilson & Furness Com-

The Italians are preparing to celebrate with eclat the twenty-rifth anniversary of the taking of Rome and the fail of the temporal power of the Pope. It was on the 20th of September, 1870, that the cannon of Gen. Cadorna made in the walls of Aurelian the famous breach through which passed the bersaglieri of Victor Emmanuel. As may be inagined, the Vatican is far from viewing with satisfaction all these preparations. For three years this auniversary has been talked of. The students of Rome have addressed warm invitations to all the universities in the kingdom. In the programe of festivities will figure the dedication of a monument to Cavour. The Catholic journals revenge themselves by mocking at this enthusiasm.

AMUSEMENTS.

25c.

A CADEMY-Prices Sc, 50c, 75c and $1.00. Wed, and Sat. Mats., 25c and 50c Reserved.

ANDREW MACK MYLES AROON.

Hear Mack's own sweet songs: "Maggle My Own," "I Love You," "I'm Fround Fin Irish." "Dooley's Wodding," "The Art of Making Love," "My Sweetheart," "An Irish Lad's Woo-ing," and "Mack's Swing Song." Next Week—PETER F. Dalley.

NEW NATIONAL THEATER Every Evening. Wed. and Sat. Mats. TO-NIGHT.
The Distinguished Comediane Emily Bancker,

OUR FLAT. Next Week | Primrose & West | MAMMOTH MINSTREES

In the New York and London Success.

K ERNAN'S LYCEUM THEATER. AL. REEVE'S BIG SHOW, UNTHAN, The Armiess Wonder, NEXT WEEK:- The 20th Century Maids.

Grand Opera House.

EDWARD H. ALLEN, Manager. WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 9. Matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

A Grand Production of The Black Crook

200 People on the Stage. Prices, $1.30. $1.00, 73c reserved. 50e

Next Week-"OLD GLORY "

nd 25c admission.

BOOMS THE LIVELY TIMES apt. Allison Nailor Says It Is the Best Paper Here (Special to The Times.)

New York, Sept. S.—Allison Nailor, looking very youthful for his sixty years with his trim black mustache and Panama straw hat, arrived in this city tonight with Mrs. Nailor and his nephew, Wiman Marshall. The party registered at the Imperial Hotel and will remain a week and take in the yacht races.
Mr. Nailor has a goodly portion of the $300,000, paid him by the Washington and Georgetown Railroad for his stable property, to bet on the success of the property, to bet on the success of the Defender in Tuesday's race, but no one property, to bet on the success of the Defender in Tuesday's race, but no one has come forward with Valkyrie money. Speaking of 'The Times' story of the yacht race as compared with that of the Star, Mr. Nailor said:

"I am glad to see The Times getting along so nicely. It is, in my opinion, the best paper in Washington. I have been a subscriber to two other papers, but they are both gotten out on such old fogyprinciples that they soffer by comparison with The Times. When I get back to Washington I am going to drop one of them and take The Times regularly. It is a hustier.

"I have just come from the Boston conclave of Knights Templar, and a short after trip to Canada. I do not think the Hoston conclave lays over the one held in Washington aix years ago. Then we had 25,000 in line. At Boston the number was several thousand less. Washingtonians were royally entertained and will have pleasant memories of the Boston trip."

About John Smith. Capt. John Smith was born in a time hen queer things were done in England. Lord Campbell tells us that at that period of the Tudor reign Chief Justice Popham, when he was a law-student in the Middle Temple, used, after nightfall, to go out with his pistols and take purses on Houns-low heath, partly to show that he was a young man of spirit, partly to recruit his meager finances, impaired by riotous

The first governor at Jamestown showed an early liking for adventure. At sixteen be served in France as a soldier, afterward spending three years in the Nether lands fighting against the Spaniards. Shipwrecked on his way to Turkey, where be wanted to fight for the Christians, he was carried to Egypt and Cyprus. Later on he is reported to have fought in single combat with a Turkish captain, killing his adversary at the first thrust of his lance.

At the Heralds' College in London in the official register of grants of arms we find the record of the cost-of-arms granted December 9, 1603, by Sigismund Bathori, prince of Transylvania, "to John Smith, captain of 250 soldiers, etc., • • • in memory of three Turks" heads which with his sword before the town of Regal he did overcome, kill, and cut off, in the province of Transylvania." The entry is duly approved and the genuineness of Sigismund's signature and seal certified by William Segar, garter king at arms

The government of the Sublime Porte is about to appoint a commission charged with preparing an important reform. It is that of levying a tax on all the foreign newspapers which enter the Ottoman territory. The journals positished in the Ottoman Emission of the control of the ottoman in the Ottoman Emission of the ottoman in th pire have long been subject to a tax from which foreign papers have been free-